

Dr. Joseph J. Y. Sung

Dr. Joseph J. Y. Sung, an outstanding scholar and an internationally reputed gastroenterologist and hepatologist of Asia is currently the Chairman of Research Committee of the Chinese University of Hong Kong and is also Chair Professor of Medicine and Chief of Service at the Department of Medicine and Therapeutics, Prince of Wales Hospital and Chief of Gastroenterology and Hepatology of the University. Prof. Sung is also serving as the Vice President of Hong Kong Academy of Medicine, President of the Hong Kong Society of Gastroenterology, President of Hong Kong Society of Digestive Endoscopy and the Council of the Hong Kong College of Physicians.

been awarded named lecturer ship from various countries including Bushell Lecture (Australia), RD McKenna Lecture (Canada), DV Dutta Memorial Orator (India), Francisco Roman Memorial Lecture (Philippines), Solly Mark Lecture (South Africa) and the AJS MacFadzean Lecture (Hong Kong).

Prof. Joseph J. Y. Sung is acknowledged as number one in Medical Gastroenterology in the world.

Prof. Joseph Sung obtained his medical degree from the University of Hong Kong in 1983 with the prestigious award of the Hong Kong Medical Association Prize of 1983. After finishing his training in Internal Medicine and Gastro-enterology, he was elected Fellow of Royal College of Physicians in London and Edinburgh, Royal College of Australian College of Physicians and the American College of Gastroenterology. He was conferred the degree of Doctor in Philosophy at the University of Calgary in 1991 and Doctor of Medicine in 1997 by the Chinese University of Hong Kong. He has published over 220 original scientific papers and more than 230 abstracts in the international journals and conferences held in all continents of the world. Prof. Sung has